HELLO, I AM

a collaborative frontend developer with about five years of professional experience in React and TypeScript, who enjoys blending problem-solving with creativity. I do my best work in small, focused teams where I can contribute to shared goals, foster innovation, and support my colleagues.

My background includes a Bachelor's degree in Nutrition and Health (2007) and several years in customer support, which gives me a good sense of what users actually need.

I live in Viby, Aarhus, and am the proud father of two children.
